ENDED HIS OWN LIFE.

THOMAS F. CHEGWIDDEN BLEW HIS BRAINS OUT YESTERDAY.

DEED CAREFULLY PLANNED.

BROODED OVER HIS EXPULSION FROM A LABOR UNION.

Was the Founder of Franklin Lodge, A. O. U. W., and a Brickmason by Trade - Funeral Will Be Held at 5 O'clock This Afternoon.

Thomas Franklin Chegwidden, one of the oldest and best known brickmasons in this city, also a prominent A. O. U. W., and the erganizer of Franklin lodge, this city, committed suicide yesterday morning at the family home. No. 424 Sandusky avenue, by blowing out his brains with a revolver. Despondency and long brooding over being suspended from a labor union were the causes for the rash act.

Shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday morning Mrs. Chegwidden and her two daughters, Lizzie and Mamie, were aroused from their slumber by the report of a pistol shot. Mrs. Chegwidden discovered that her husband was missing, and she rushed from her bedroom downstairs, calling him by name, Thomas. There came no response to her anxious calls, and she ran into the kitchen, closely followed by her daughters. A ter-rible sight met their gaze. In a large pool of blood lay the body of Chegwidden. The revolver from which the fatal shot had been fired was tightly closped in the dead man's right hand. A huge hole in the right temple disclosed the course taken by the temple disclosed the course taken by the bullet. The body was taken to Sawyer's morgue.

The dead man was better known by his middle name. Franklin, and his daughters also went by the name of Franklin, simply because it is a much easier name to speak than Chegwidden. He had lived in this city for the past twenty years, and up to two years ago was a prosperous mechanic. At that time he was employed by the Kansas City Smelting and Refining Company in Argentine. The company desired to push the work as rapidly as possible, and one afternoon the superintendent of the smelting plant requested Chegwidden to work in two extra hours per day in order to rush the work. He did so, and was fined $25 by his lodge for violating the eight-hour labor law. At that time Chegwidden to work in two extra hours per day in order to rush the work. He did so, and was fined $25 by his lodge for violating the eight-hour labor law. At that time Chegwidden was paying for his home and could not conveniently sparre the fine. He reasoned with some of his fellow members, endeavoring to secure a stay on the fine, but in vain. He paid no further attention to the matter until the union interfered with him securing employment. He was not a union man, and hence it was very hard for him to get work, and at the same time his femily had to be provided for. Chegwidden finally decided to pay the fine, but the had let it go so long that the dues and assessments had accomplated until he was unable to raise the most devoted lawyers in this city. He is not only devoted to his family, but when he had been unconstructed to the pay the fine, but he had been unconstructed from the pay the fine, but he had let it go so long that the dues and assessments had accomplated until he was unable to raise the most devoted lawyers in this city. He is not only devoted to his family, but when he had been unconstructed in the protound interest taken by him in the hecessary amount, and be activated in the second union for good.

For the just few months he had been unwally despondent. While he never informated to his family or any of his friends that he even entertained a thought of self-destruction, it is believed that he had carefully planned the deed. He was too proud to let any of his lodge friends know of his financial condition and; after brooding over he matter so long, he was evidently driven egwidden had the reputation of being to the deed.

Chegwidden had the reputation of being an honest, soher and industrious man. He was devoted to his family and enjoyed the respect of his fellow men. About eight years ago he organized the Franklin lodge, which was named in honor of him. For years he had acted us recorder of the lodge and held that office at the time of his death. He attended a meeting of the lodge Friday night and remained after the meeting and went over all of the books and placed everything in perfect order. He told the auditing committee where all of the vouchers, books, receipts, etc., could be found before he left the lodge room Friday night. While this was unusual it did not create the slightest susption of the terrible resolution which he had made. He walked home from the lodge room with David Douginss and appeared to be in his usual spirits. Mr. Douglass left him at about 11.20 o'clock. Chegwidden went home and sat down on the steps in front of his house. He finally entered the house and went to bed. Mrs. Chegwidden was not awakened when her husband got up to kill himself.

"The deceased was 52 years old and was a native of England. He came to this country when a mere boy and had resided here since. When the Fowler packing house was started in this city he came here from Chicago and worked at the plant for several years. A wife, three daughters and two sons survive him. He was insured in the Workmen for 3.200. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 5 o'clock from the family home.

THAT "S. & S." BOYCOTT.

Trades Assembly Will Meet To-day and Discuss the Action of Anchor Labor Union.

The Trades Assembly will meet to-day and discuss the actions of the Anchor Federal Labor Union in declaring a boycott on the Schwarzschild & Bulsberger Packing Company. It is understood from reliable authority that there will be some lively discussion, and it is bossible that the Anchor Federal Labor Union will withdraw from the assembly.

It was stated yesterday that the Trades Assembly was anything but pleased with the histy mather in which the Anchor people have acted. It is also claimed that the, grievance of the Anchor union was not sufficient to warping a boycott being declared, and that if they had a grievance they should have referred it to the Trades Assembly, which is the central labor body in this city. chor Labor Union.

Atterney Dow McGlain is undoubtedly one of the most devoted lawyers in this city. He is not only devoted to his family, but when he has a case in court he becomes unconscious of all things that transpire about him in the profound interest taken by him in behalf of his client's claim. Yesterday, for instance, he was arguing a case before Judge Hoft, of the common pleas court, and his mind was so thoroughly concentrated on his argument that one of the attorneys present took his watch out of his pocket and passed it to another lawyer, who carefully concealed it. The watch was in Mr. Clain's vest pocket at the time the "robbery" was committed and Mr. McClain was waring the vest.

After he thad finished his argument the court sustained his motion, and the veteran lawyer was feeling highly jubliant until he discovered that he had lost his watch. He asked the court to have the doors bolted until he searched all the lawyers present, but this Judge Holt refused to do. After keeping him in great suspense for fully an hour, Judge O. L. Miller returned the time-piece. The judge declares that he did not take the watch, and cannot explain how it came into his possession. Attorney McClain says that he will turn the tables if he learns who the man was that "touched" him.

INDEPENDENCE.

Dissension Among Property Owners Blocks Improvement of Maple Avenue. There is dissension among property own ers residing along fashionable Maple avenue. Some time ago it was the consensus of opinion among the property owners that the street should be improved. To this nearly all agreed. Some wanted brick, others asphalt, and still others macadam. Some, however, would not agree to have any change whatever and got up a remon any change whatever and got up a remonstrance, claiming that a thirty-four foot street would be too narrow.

The diversity of opinion has grown to such an extent that apparently no plan of action can be agreed upon. Last night a meeting was called to discuss a plan on which all factions could harmonize and then go before the council. then go before the council.

GO AFTER A SCALP OR TWO.

FORTY KANSAS CITY ELKS PROPOSE TO BE SEEN AND HEARD.

About forty members of Kansas City lodge No. 3. Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, will leave this afternoon at 5.50 o'clock over the Rock Island for Minneapolis, to attend the eleventh annual re-union and grand lodge meeting of the order, which will be held there July 6 to 10, inclusive. The local Elks will wear a stunning uniform, consisting of white yachting cap with purple band, dark blue coat, white duck trousers, white shoes and leather belt. They will carry purple umbrellas, purple being the color of the order.

The Kansas City Elks will also carry with them a magnificent banner, painted by a Kansas City artist, F. Smith. This is one of the finest banners ever carried by any order and will be entered for the prize for the handsomest banner taken to the reunion. The central figure is that of a royal eik. A wreath of gold encircles this robbs figure while a suray of blue orget-me-nots gracefully scrolls the bot-om. The borders are heavy gold fringe forget-me-nots gracefully scrolls the bottom. The borders are heavy gold fringe and lace. The banner is surmounted by a small elk's head, which contains over $600 worth of pure gold. In the four corners are the symbolic words, Charity, Justice, Brotherly Love and Fidelity, for which the order stands. On the reverse side of the banner is the inscription: "Organized June 3, 1884, Kansas City, Mo."

Among the Kansas City Elks who will attend the reunion are: William Cargill, past exsited ruler: Phil Mellin, E. L. Biersmith, Henry M. Stonestreet, C. H. Fitzgerald, Charles Clasby, E. J. Becker, Frank Jones, George Gaugh, Dr. J. N. Scott, W. M. Draffen, Frank P. Walsh, C. S. Curry, Dr. C. H. Lester, F. H. Kumpi J. P. O'Nelli, F. W. Cooper, Henry N. Garland, M. M. A. H. Moffatt, of the Rock Island, will and will be met at the depots by delegations of Minneapolis Elks and escorted to their hotels. A reception will be tendered the visitors all day and evening at Elka hall, 29 Nicoliet avening.

The reunion proper will begin Tuesday morning at 5:30 o clock, when a reception will be tendered the grand lodge. The opening exercises will take place at 19:30 o clock in the Metropolitan theater, when Governod Clough. Mayor Fratt, and distinguished Elka will deliver addresses. The grand lodge will open at noon. At 2 o'clock the visiting halles will be driven around the city. In the evening a trolley car ride from the West hotel to Minehaha falls, with brilliant illumination of Longfellow's paradise. Elks who are Shriners, and do not take the trolley car trip, will be entertained by the Shriners with "zem zem" and camel's milk.

This is only a sample of what will be done tertained by the Shriners with "zem zem" and camel's milk.

This is only a sample of what will be done during the entire week of the reunion. Every day is to be a continuous round of pleasure mingled with the ousness of the reunion, which is chiefly pleasure. A number of prize drills will be given, and Kansas City lodge hopes to come home with a scalp or two dangling at its belt.

Kansas City lodge will also make a determined effort to get the next annual reunion and grand lodge meeting for Kansas City, the convention hall being an assured fact.

SUICIDE OF H. C. LAMBADER.

PIONEER BUTCHER HANGS HIMSELF IN HIS BARN.

William H. C. Lambader, one of the oldest and, at one time, one of the wealthiest outchers in the West, hanged himself in the barn in the rear of his house, at 1711 Troost avenue, yesterday afternoon. Itis body was found dangling from a rafter by his daughter, Minnie, about 7 o'clock. She had gone to the barn, intending to hitch up the horse and drive to the little butcher shop at Eighteenth and Olive streets, of late the main source of income for the Lamber family, for her mother. As she caught a glimpse of the swaying body she ran out a glimpse of the swaying body she ran out screaming and aroused the neighborhood. A great crowd of people assembled and William Powell, who lives at 1715 Troost avenue, and Dr. R. O. Cross, of Eighteenth street and Troost avenue, cut the body down. Mr. Lambader had been dead at least three hours. down. Mr. Lambader had been dead at least three hours.

Mr. Lambader had made careful preparations to end his life. He first removed his coat, hat and shoes. The rope, which he passed several times around his neck, was one-fourth of an inch thick, and had been colled four times about the rafter. Mr. Lambader was a very large man, weighing about 250 pounds, and he made as sure a possible that the rope would not fall him. He stood on a cracker box to adjust the rope, then kicked it away and slowly stran-

Debs is too smart a man to run a colony of 'never sweats' into Mexico. Do you know what would become of his colony of political agitators if they would come to Mexico and talk politics instead of working. Well, every last one of them would be sent to Southern Mexico by the authorities and forced to work. We have no political agitators standing on the street corners there from early morn until late at night advising others of the all-ments of the government and advocating this thing or that as a remedy. We have no political agitators standing on the street corners there from early morn until hemes in the pulpit of the M. E. church aday. The morning subject will be, "National Sins Bring National Sorrow." Evening topic, "God's Providence Over Nations" this thing or that as a remedy. When-not working. If he wants to work out car't find any they hunt him a job in short order. If the man does not give a good reason or indicates that he does not care to work, then they bind him and ship him south, where he is compelled to work. I tell you that is the best remedy to kill off political agitators I ever saw. And that is the reason Debs does not take his outfut down there.

"There is another peculiar thing about the industrial laws of Mexico. Strikes are unknown. This is due to the fact that it is a grievous offense, the penalty of which is to be shot, for one person to coax or ecerce another to quit his job or to strike. When an employe becomes dissatisfied with his job on account of wages or otherwise he has the liberty to quit, but he cannot coax or tease his fellow employes to quit also. If the manager learns absolutely of any attempt of the kind being made by an employe he takes him out and shoots him and that closes that incident. On account of this stringent law no effort has ever leen made to organize labor unions. We simply are allowed to run our own business.

"And with all the talk of backnumbered."

"And with all the talk of backnumbered "And with all the talk of backnumbered Mexico we do not have the outlawry there that you do in the States. There has only been three train robberies there since railreads were built. In each case the perpetrators were caught and shot on the spot. The summary way we have of dealing with that class of criminals makes a man stop and think twice before flagging a train, no matter how desperate he is."

Judge E. C. Cole, of Great Bend, tells a good story of how Mike Sutton, the new collector of internal revenue, changed the tide of sentiment among the lawyers and politicians of Southwestern Kansas one time and succeeded in saving Jerry, Strang from defeat for judge at the Republican convention. At that time Strang was judge of the old Sixteenth district and he wanted a re-election. Strang was considerable of a sport and rounder, and his conduct with women had become notorious. That fall a streak of virtue seized the members of the bar of that district. The lawyers decided to hold indignation meetings in each county and pass resolutions against street. C. H. Fitzgerald. "Let us see. Burns, you're a drunkard; the worst in town. Just the other day, while dead drunk, the boys laid you out in a coffin, put a burning candle at your head and three beer bottles at your feet, and then invited the passengers of the train as they halted at the depot to come across the street and see the dead body of one of the most notorious outlaws in the West. You certainly can't indignate very strongly against Strang.

"And, Gridler, you are an embezzier. You know it. It justice had had ner way you would be digging coal at Lansing instead of attempting to practice law at Dodge. You can't talk very loud.

"Here is Barton. Barton, your political pull kept you out of the penitentiary. By rights you should spend the rest of your days there and you know it. Perhaps the proper thing to have been done in your case would have been to string you up to a telegraph pole. So you are silenced.

"Jones at my side here has no hig kick coming, because he never has a lawsuit and it doesn't matter who the Judge is, so far as he is concerned.

"There is Jackson, but he is fighting for Strang because the judge appointed him county attorney here once.

"So I am the only one left and I'm so hopelessly in the minority that I guess it would not be politic for me to open up a fight. I might get licked."

Sutton's talk upset the whole scheme the "insurgents" had put up against Strang, and the opposition withered. Strang was re-nominated by acclamation and re-elected by a tremendous majority.

Just how the calamity howiers will harmonize the oft repeated assertion that the harder the farmers of Kansas work and the more they raise, the less money they have, with the following statement, is a matter that is worth watching:

To the Corn Belt.

I came here with my family in March, 1880, and purchased a quarter section two and three-quarter miles from this station. My worldly goods at that time consist d of my farm implements, household goods, three teams, ten head of cattle and about $1.600 in money, invested in the farm.

Without help from anyone I now own 500 acres of good land and other real property to the value of about $2.000. Have plenty of horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, and mules to stock the land, and have dug it out of this county.

A Maple Leaf train had a narrow escape from a wreck at the Santa Fe cut on South Fourth street Friday night. A traction engine was crossing the track when the steam had on the track. The Maple Leaf passenger came around the curve through the cut at a good rate of speed and struck the water tank, demolishing it. Charles Frees man, the owner of the engine, by a quick move managed to get most of it off the track. Had the passenger engine struck the steamer squarely, it would have undoubtedly been detailed, along with a couple of coaches. The damage was about $100 to the steamer and the locomotive was slightly crippled.

A Bruial Lover. Molile Yoakum swore out a warrant yes-terday for William Clark, who is now under arrest, and will be tried before Judge Bond next Wednesday. Molile and Clark, it seems, went to a resort on the "Pike" Pri-day evening to do a little courting. They took some lemon with a stick in it and a fight was on in short order. Clark got the hest of Molile and gave her a severe beat-ing. Her face presented a mournful appear-ance yesterday, and it is said that she was hurt internally from kicks administered by Clark.

August Trocon Dead.

August Trocon, aged 80 years, died years, tarday at his home on South Third street. He was taken ill with pneumonia last spring and he never fully recovered from the effects of it. Mr. Trocon was a native of France, and he had been a resident of Leavenworth since 1838. A wife, three doughters and one son survive him. The time for his funeral has not been determined on yet.

Washington, July 2. The full text of Sectury Sherman's answer to Japan's protest cainst the same action of Hawaii by the nited States has been made public. After noting the grounds on which Japan made s protest, the secretary of state says: "This recital is of itself proof that your vernment has misapprehended the stateents and assurances contained in my ote, and in its relation to the treaty question involved, strongly auggests confusion between the formal stipulations of treaties and the vested rights which the subjects of one country may acquire in another un-der treaty or the law of the land. The principle of public law wacro-by the existing treatles of a state cease upon its incorporation into another state is well defined by Halleck, who says: But the obligations of treaties, even where some of their stipulations are in terms perpetual, expire in case either of the contracting parties loces its existence as an independent state, or in case its internal con-stitution is so changed as to render the to remark that, as a fact, through thresguarters of a century, in which the constitution and government of Hawaii and the commerce of the island with the world have undergone notable changes, the one essential feature of the status quo has been the predominant and paramount influence of the United States upon the ferrunes of the group, and that the union of that island territory to the United States; often foreshadowed, and at times taking tangible ahape, has been recognized as a necessary contingency, drawing nearer year by year with the passage of events. Four years ago, when a similar project of annexation followed the Hawaiian revolution, the occasion for maintaining the status quo was not-even suggested by any power having interests in the Pacific. This government cannot be expected to proclaim or admit that any such occasion has since arisen—just as it can neither intend nor admit that the projected more perfect union of Hawait to the United States, by which the progressive policies and dependent associations of some seventy years have their destined culmination, can injure any legitimate interests of other powers in the Pacific. That it will tend to strengthen, develop and perpetuate all such commonly beneficial interests is, on the contrary, to be expected.

"In thus reviewing the protest you present, it gives me pleasure to say that I welcome its frank and friendly spirit. So far as you take occasion to deny what you aptly call 'the mischievous suggestion or report' that Japan has designs against the integrity or sovereignty of Hawaii. I am glad to assure you that such denial was entirely unnecessary, inasmuch as this government has not doubted, and cannot for an instant doubt, the sincerity and friendliness of Japan in all that concerns her relations to the United States and to the Hawaiian islands."

NO PARKS FOR HOBOES.

A Knocker Brings Out a New Argument Against Having Any Parks. The proposed meeting of property owner at Broadway and the Southwest boulevard to discuss the change in the plans of Penn Valley park was not held last night. Only twenty persons were present, and they de-cided to postpone the meeting until next Wednesday night. Of those who were pros-ent, all but two were in favor of parks. One of the objectors was Cy Near, who owns a piece of property in the Fifth ward, but does not live there. He made the state-ment that he was unqualifiedly opposed to ment that he was understanding parks.

My own doorward is good enough for me and my family, said he, "and it ought to be for every other property owner. I don't want to pay trace to build parks for a lot of hoboes to sit around and sleep in them." Advance Guard of the Powder Burned.
